The formula...

effectively communicate marine and freshwater science to NZ communities involve them in experiencing those environments first-hand and empower them to take action for it, an improved environment and a strong foundational ethic of kaitiakitanga.

via the programmes; Experiencing Marine Reserves (EMR) and Whitebait Connection (WBC).

Our team has grown and expanded in many ways since 2002 and currently has 8 trustees, 1 patron, 2 Co-Directors and a team of over 40 coordinators delivering EMR and WBC around NZ. Our trustees pictured below:

"I love learning about the interconnectedness of it all. The way the water connects the mountains to the sea and the people too"

"It is great to know that there are lots of people out there teaching us how to care for the colourful sea creatures in the ocean, when I am older I want to be a snorkeler like you, I cannot wait"

Our goal is to empower and support communities to achieve marine and freshwater conservation through science based experiential programmes, resources, projects and community engagement.
